Allowable Subject Matter

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the previous rejections are hereby withdrawn in view of the amendment filed 5/29/07. The prior art does not teach or fairly suggest a computer system comprising instructions for identifying the presence or absence of BPH by using differential expression profiles of the nucleic acid sequences recited in the instant claims. While the sequences were known in the art, their differential expression profiles were not known to be useful in diagnosing BPH.

Conclusion

Claims 57-59, 61-65, 70, 71, 74, and 75 are allowed.
